A blog from the heart
of a young mum

About

Life With Pink Princesses is a UK Parenting & Lifestyle blog and YouTube Channel. I created this little space on the internet as my personal place for me to document our lives. I am a young mum of three daughters; P1 born 2008, P2 born 2013 and P3 who was born in 2014. Our eldest is suspected to have ASD and we are going through that diagnosis process at the moment. Together with my family we cover topics relating to parenting, our daily struggles and joys of life, product reviews, our travel adventures, baking, crafts and everything in between.
